Your auction donation shows the Elders there is a community that cares for them

The 29th Annual Navajo Rug Show & Sale has become a special tradition in our community and is enjoyed by over 2,000 visitors and 500 school children. Our live auction is the highlight of the Friday night opening event. Funds generated by the auction significantly offset event expenses. This is where we need your help. We need individuals and businesses to donate items we can combine into packages and auction.

Adopt-A-Native-Elder brings more than 30 Traditional weavers and their families from the Navajo Reservation to Park City to share their culture and sell their hand-woven rugs at our annual Navajo Rug Show & Sale at Deer Valley.

The Rug Show provides the Elders an opportunity to sell their rugs and take home 100% of the money.

Adopt-A-Native-Elder (A.N.E.) was founded to help support traditional Navajo Elders as they age. The Elders range from 75 years of age to 100+. Most traditional Elders live without plumbing. Many have no electricity, haul water from miles away and use wood for heat and to cook. Many Elders do not speak English and did not have the opportunity of a formal education. A.N.E. provides food, firewood, simple medicines, clothing, fabric and yarns to help these Elders live on the land in their traditional lifestyle. Working with Navajo senior centers and coordinators, we fill significant gaps in Reservation Elder care. The program focuses on helping over 560 Elders to age in place on the land they hold sacred.

We will honor your generosity with a letter acknowledging your tax-deductible donation, a thank you in the Park Record and in our Rug Show collateral material.

Thank you for your consideration,
Linda Myers
